

Ekşi Sözlük Violence Annotation Guide: Multi-label, 5 Binary Columns

Task: Answer each of the 5 questions independently for every entry. Write only 1 (yes) or 0 (no) for each question. Columns are not mutually exclusive — an entry can receive multiple 1s.

Columns and Definitions

physical_violence

Does the entry describe a concrete physical attack on a healthcare worker?

Scope: hitting, assault, stabbing, armed attack, pushing, injuring — may be a past event or reported by someone else.

- 1 → "punched the doctor", "attacked with a cobblestone", "shot and wounded"
- 0 → "violence is increasing" (general comment), "I almost hit him but held back" (did not happen)

verbal_violence

Does the entry describe a concrete threat, insult, or verbal attack on a healthcare worker?

Scope: "I will kill you", swearing, yelling, humiliation — must be a specific event or account.

- 1 → "yelled that he would ruin me", "rained down insults"
- 0 → "doctors face insults" (general), "there is disrespect in this society" (observation)

violence_normalized

Does the entry justify, present as inevitable, or frame violence as a solution?

Scope: "they deserve it", "understandable", "what do you expect", "you will get beaten" — the author's position makes violence plausible or justified.

- 1 → "violence is normal given this treatment", "doctors deserve it"
- 0 → "violence may be understandable but it is wrong" (there is criticism)
- Note: if the entry contains irony/sarcasm → check the sarcasm column first

anti_violence

Does the entry explicitly condemn, criticize, or seek solutions to violence?

Scope: the author takes a position against violence — calling for a ban, condemning the event, defending the victim.

- 1 → "violence must be a taboo", "should be punished most severely", "this is unacceptable"
- 0 → just reporting the event without taking a position
- Note: if the entry contains irony/sarcasm → check the sarcasm column first

sarcasm

Does the entry use irony or sarcasm — i.e. the surface meaning is the opposite of the real meaning?

Scope: Ekşi-specific mocking language, "bravo", "how lovely", reverse praise, sharp irony.

- 1 → "bravo doctors, keep getting beaten", "what a great system, everyone is happy"
- 0 → plain narrative, direct criticism, direct praise

If sarcasm = 1: fill in the other columns based on the real meaning, not the surface meaning.

Example: "doctors deserve to be beaten hahaha" → sarcasm=1, violence_normalized=0, anti_violence=1

Decision Tree

1. Is there a concrete physical assault event in the entry?
YES → physical_violence = 1
NO → physical_violence = 0
2. Is there a concrete verbal attack or threat in the entry?
YES → verbal_violence = 1
NO → verbal_violence = 0
3. Does the entry contain irony or sarcasm?
YES → sarcasm = 1; proceed by thinking about the real meaning
NO → sarcasm = 0; proceed with the surface meaning
4. Is violence being justified or presented as inevitable?
YES → violence_normalized = 1
NO → violence_normalized = 0
5. Is violence explicitly condemned or criticized?
YES → anti_violence = 1
NO → anti_violence = 0

Edge Cases

Entry	phys.	verb.	v_norm	anti	sarcasm
"punched the doctor, should receive the harshest sentence"	1	0	0	1	0
"you will get beaten, what did you expect"	0	0	1	0	0
"bravo doctors, take more beatings"	0	0	0	1	1
"I understand the violence but it is wrong"	0	0	0	1	0
"a doctor was killed in Konya in 2022"	1	0	0	0	0
"doctors are emigrating, who will stay anyway"	0	0	0	0	0
"I almost hit him but held myself back"	0	0	1	0	0
"you cannot practice medicine for this public"	0	0	0	0	0

Important Notes

- Answer each question independently — a previous answer should not influence the next.
- If you detect sarcasm, mark it first, then fill in the remaining columns based on the real meaning.

- Do not look at the thread title — evaluate only the entry text.
- If in doubt, write a note in the notes column — this is valuable for reconciliation.

Write labels in the corresponding columns in the CSV file: physical_violence, verbal_violence, violence_normalized, anti_violence, sarcasm. Do not change anything else.
